Lege privind dreptul de autor si drepturile conexe

TITLUL I Dreptul de autor

PARTEA I Dispozitii generale

CAPITOLUL I Dispozitii introductive

Art. 1

(1) Dreptul de autor asupra unei opere literare, artistice sau stiintifice, precum si asupra altor opere de creatie intelectuala este recunoscut si garantat in conditiile prezentei legi.

Acest drept este legat de persoana autorului si comporta atribute de ordin moral si patrimonial.

(2) Opera de creatie intelectuala este recunoscuta si protejata, independent de aducerea la cunostinta publica, prin simplul fapt al realizarii ei, chiar in forma nefinalizata.

Art. 2

Recunoasterea drepturilor prevazute in prezenta lege nu prejudiciaza si nu exclude protectia acordata prin alte dispozitii legale.

CAPITOLUL II Subiectul dreptului de autor

Art. 3

(1) Este autor persoana fizica sau persoanele fizice care au creat opera.

(2) in cazurile expres prevazute de lege, pot beneficia de protectia acordata autorului persoanele juridice si persoanele fizice, altele decat autorul.

(3) Calitatea de subiect al dreptului de autor se poate transmite in conditiile legii.

Art. 4

(1) Se prezuma a fi autor, pana la proba contrara, persoana sub numele careia opera a fost adusa pentru prima data la cunostinta publica.

(2) Cand opera a fost adusa la cunostinta publica sub forma anonima sau sub un pseudonim care nu permite identificarea autorului, dreptul de autor se exercita de persoana fizica sau juridica ce o face publica avand consimtamantul autorului, atat timp cat acesta nu isi dezvaluie identitatea.

Art. 5

(1) Este opera comuna opera creata de mai multi coautori, in colaborare.

(2) Dreptul de autor asupra operei comune apartine coautorilor acesteia, intre care unul poate fi autorul principal, in conditiile prezentei legi.

(3) in lipsa unei conventii contrare, coautorii nu pot utiliza opera decat de comun acord.

 The Acra was a fortified compound in Jerusalem of the 2nd century BCE. Built by Antiochus Epiphanes, ruler of the Seleucid Empire, following his sack of the city in 168 BCE, the fortress played a significant role in the events surrounding the Maccabean Revolt and the formation of the Hasmonean Kingdom. It was destroyed by Simon Maccabeus during this struggle. The exact location of the Acra, critical to understanding Hellenistic Jerusalem, remains a matter of ongoing discussion. Historians and archaeologists have proposed various sites around Jerusalem, relying mainly on conclusions drawn from literary evidence. This approach began to change in the light of excavations which commenced in the late 1960s. New discoveries have prompted reassessments of the ancient literary sources, Jerusalem's geography and previously discovered artifacts. Yoram Tsafrir has interpreted a masonry joint in the southeastern corner of the Temple Mount platform as a clue to the Acra's possible position. During Benjamin Mazar's 1968 and 1978 excavations adjacent to the south wall of the Mount, features were uncovered which may have been connected with the Acra, including barrack-like rooms and a huge cistern.
